1. How is science different from other fields of human endeavor?
2. Questions that science can address are limited by?
3. What are three properties of a theory?

Marie Curie: One never notices what has been done; one only can see what remains to be done